

AUDITOR BATTLE PROMISES PLAY OF POLITICS

A Hot Battle for Important New County Post Is Predicted

Practical assurance that at least three candidates will enter the race for the office of county auditor that is to be created in 1932 due to the increase in population, has indicated to politicians that a hot battle looms in the campaign for this important office.

R. H. Stripe, president of the Waukegan Taxpayers Association has announced that he will be a candidate for the office. Stripe is one of three avowed aspirants. Robert Pearsall, deputy county clerk and chief clerk of the board of review, this week announced that he would be a candidate, and Thomas H. Sexton, former member of the city plumbing commission, previously announced that he would enter the race.

Other names mentioned in connection with the candidacy are Henry F. Wallenwein, Waukegan justice of the peace, Fred Brown Whitney, receiver of the Waukegan State bank, Frank T. Fowler, former secretary of the Waukegan chamber of commerce, and Walter Smith, veteran employee of the county treasurer's office.

Play of Politics Seen.
Owing to the fact that the new office will serve from a new angle as a check on county expenditures, the post is regarded as extremely important, and a bitter clash is predicted between those who now spend the public money and those who through taxation pay the bills. The victor will be either a "yes" man for the powers that be, or a conscientious official who will administer the business of the office to the interest of those who place him in office.

"THE COLLEGE GIRL" TO BE PRESENTED HERE OCT. 19, 20

Is Sponsored by the Antioch
Community Chest

Permeated with artistic excellence, redolent with emotion, and dramatic with humor, "The College Girl," a musical comedy, will be presented at the Antioch township high school on October 19 and 20.

The production is being staged under the auspices of the Antioch Community Chest, with Mrs. Ida Osmond chairman of the show committee. All costumes and scenery are furnished by the Frederick B. Ingram production company, of Rock Island, Ill., which is represented in this city at the present time by Miss Mary Lucille Miner, who has charge of rehearsals.

A college romance and a freshman from the hills as played by Edmund Jeffers form the collegiate background; then there is Emphy, William Anderson, who is a star performer on a football field as long as he can stay eligible. No college is complete without a Dean of Men; this part has been assigned to Nason Sibley. Beatrice Hawkins, as the new Dean of Women, and Hilma Rosling, the English teacher, who is continually troubling Emphy with his grades, contribute their bit of wit to the play. Clayton O'Hare will play the part of Gibb, a student; Kenneth Van Patten will be the cheer leader; Xavier Hawkins, an officer of the law; Howard Matine, an upper classman; G. G. Reed, the football coach; and Miss Olive Hanson, the campus flapper. The part of the much admired and sought after college girl, Tommy, will be played by Dorothy Broman. In addition to the above cast there are two mystery characters and a chorus of fifty girls dressed in the very latest collegiate costumes.

As the curtain rises there will be a delightful performance, called "The Wedding of the Little Doll," the bride and groom being little tots and the guests the children of the first, second and third grades.

For the benefit of the children of the grammar school, a special matinee of "The College Girl" will be presented at 4:30 Monday afternoon at the high school auditorium. Admission to this will be 15 cents, the tickets being given out at school Friday.

Mrs. Alvers' Brother Dies After Short Illness

Following a short illness, Glenn H. Alvers, 54, brother of Mrs. Charles Alvers, this city, died at his home in West Pullman, Friday. Burial took place at Liberty cemetery, Monday.

Plans are Under Way For the Organization of a Band in Antioch

Announcement was made here this afternoon by David McElroy, of the well-known McElroy saxophone quintet, that definite plans are being formulated for the organization of a municipal band in Antioch.

If you are interested in this project, which is endorsed by Principal L. O. Bright and Mayor George Bartlett, report to H. A. Radtke or Howard Garton for application blanks.

It is expected that a meeting of those desiring to become members of this organization will be called within a few days.

LAKE COUNTY Farm Bureau NEWS NOTES

INTERESTING JUBILEE PROGRAM

The co-operative jubilee, which is to be held at the Libertyville township high school on Friday evening, October 16, and sponsored by the Lake County Farm Bureau, has a very interesting program planned. The program will be opened with a band concert by the Libertyville band with numbers mixed through the program by the McElroy saxophone quintet. The 4-H club champions will be introduced and cups presented to Glen Bacon for grand champion litter and grand champion gilt; Lloyd Barnstable, grand champion cockerel; Herman Edelman, champion pullet; Homer Edelman, champion pen; Charles Dooley, champion ewe.

Officers and directors of fifteen co-operatives in Lake county will be introduced, some of whom are Leslie Bonner, president of the Millburn Mutual Insurance company; Henry Hillman, president of the Elia Mutual Insurance company; William A. Chandler, agricultural director of the Waukegan Trading company; Willard Darrell, president of the Lake County Dairy Herd Improvement association; J. J. Claude, president of the Protective association.

Free tickets may be secured at the Farm Bureau office, Grayslake.

4-H CHAMPIONS SELECTED

On Monday the girls' 4-H club leaders met with the county committee and Miss Martha Hensley, of the University of Illinois, and selected the girls' 4-H club champions for this year as follows:

First year champion—Marjorie Kane, Lucky Clovers Club, Diamond Lake; second year champion—Betty Jane Rouse, Lucky Clovers Club, Diamond Lake. Mrs. Robert Rouse and Mrs. Lee Kane were leaders of this club.

Third year champion—Peggy Studer, Jolly 4-H club, Gurnee; Mrs. Hook and Mrs. McClure, leaders.

Fourth year champion—Lila Behrens, Happy Ralabow Workers Club, Gurnee; Mrs. E. E. Elsbury and Mrs. Fred Behrens, leaders.

Room improvement champion—Marion Deasel, Steady Strivers Club, Gurnee; Mrs. B. Worth and Mrs. Gladys Ames, leaders.

The boys' 4-H club leaders and county committee selected the boys' county club champions last week. The purebred gilt champion was Joe Tokanap, of Fremont club; sow and litter champion, Glenn Bacon, and litter champion, Glenn Bacon, (Continued on page eight)

Antioch Men Seek Depression Cure

Intelligent Optimism Voiced in Many Versions of World Slump

PROSPERITY LOITERS BECAUSE OF BUSINESS ILLS

Antioch's business men are to be congratulated. They have committed themselves on how the Banquo's ghost of depression can be removed from the economic table of American business. They all agree that the present slump is not a simple sickness that has fallen upon us and that it will not yield to any simple and single remedy; nevertheless, it is with an air of complete confidence that they offer their various solutions to the problem of again setting the feet of the nation on the road to a widely distributed and stabilized prosperity. Here's the veritable food:

"Just Stop Kickin'."
Although he was not the first to be interviewed, it will probably not be long before this city, died at his home in West Pullman, Friday. Burial took place at Liberty cemetery, Monday.

Scene From "College Girl"

"The College Girl," a collegiate musical comedy, to be shown here Monday and Tuesday nights under the auspices of the Community Chest organization, was first produced under the title "Co-Ed" at Purdue university during the fall of 1929. The show and music were written and produced by the young men of that institution. Its production here by local talent promises to be a novel and unusual entertainment.

Ray Webb and Geo. Garland Return Home From Canadian Trip

"The only regret was that we were not full-fledged Frenchmen," said Ray Webb this morning when asked to make a few remarks about the trip he and George Garland took into Canada following the Legion convention at Detroit.

Prominent among the sights they saw was the famous shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, north of Quebec. Going through Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, and Ottawa, they struck some of the wild part of Canada, where there is moose and deer aplenty.

As a means of relieving the unemployment situation, much work is being done on the roads there; several thousands of men being employed. In toto, they covered 2,700 miles and managed to keep sober most of the time, according to Ray. They arrived in Antioch Saturday morning.

MRS. G. SCHILKE DIES IN CHICAGO AFTER OPERATION

Was a Resident of Antioch
Since 1902

Falling to rally following a major operation, Mrs. Gustave Schilke, of Chicago, died at the Lakeside hospital, Chicago, Tuesday night.

The deceased, whose maiden name was Mary Schwanenbach, was born in Germany, February 21, 1861. She came to America in 1885 and was married to Gustave Schilke in 1886. Antioch has been her home since 1902.

She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Clara Ditzewitz, Burlington, Ia.; two brothers, Adolph, of Bristol, and Herman, of Salem; and four grandchildren.

The funeral will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, with the Rev. Rex Sims officiating. Burial will be at Hooper cemetery, South Bristol.

ANTIOCH FAIR IS A SUCCESS DESPITE RAIN

About 6,000 in Attendance;
Many Local People
Prize Winners

Record-breaking exhibits in both quality and quantity, wholesome amusement aplenty, and 6,000 enthusiastic visitors, Antioch's 1931 county fair, a success in spite of the inclement weather.

There were some 2,000 entries showing 4,500 articles or animals, which was considerably more than last year, according to Superintendent C. L. Knuttil. The blue ribbon winners in the major departments are as follows:

Best young pen of poultry, Willie Lehigh—Shown by O. H. Miller, Elgin, Ill. Mr. Miller also had the best male bird.

Best female, R. C. Rhode Island Red pullet—Shown by W. G. Green, Wauconda, Ill.

Best water fowl—Shown by H. L. Denault, of Hickory, Ill.

Best display of fruit—Mrs. Lizzie Bonedict, Bristol, Wis.

Best arranged basket of flowers—Mrs. W. W. Warriner, Antioch, Ill.

Best display of cut flowers—Theo. W. Smith, Grayslake, Ill.

Best bushel of yellow corn—L. A. Huebner, Mandelville, Ill. Mr. Huebner also won first with his display of field seeds.

Best Early Ohio potatoes—Elmer Dartheil, Salem, Wis.

Best display of garden crops—Emma Bacon, Round Lake, Ill.

In the fancywork department the following Antioch women won first prizes:

Mrs. Inez Ames, laceon set and appliqued pillow cases; Mrs. A. O. Teldi, crocheted bedspread; Mrs. W. W. Warriner, hooked rug; Mrs. O. E. Hachmeister, colored embroidered dresser scarf.

In the pantry stores, Mesdames J. Wilton and Chris Laursen won second and third places respectively in the canned peach exhibit, and Mrs. D. H. Minto received second place in bread.

In the fine arts department Mrs. Fred Hackett was awarded first place in oil paintings; Mrs. Marguerite Hosen first in plaques; and Helen Sylvester first in pen and ink work and in commercial art.

"I believe the exhibits in the fancywork department are larger and more varied than those displayed at the Wisconsin state fair," was the statement made Friday by Mrs. L. H. Bowerman, Janesville, who judged both the fancywork and pantry stores.

The objective of the fair was to spur interest in agricultural pursuits by giving residents of the district an opportunity to see prize winning articles and stimulate better products on the farms. The association does not intend to realize a profit and if receipts exceed expectations the funds are to be devoted in expanding activities for the coming year.

Announcement was made this morning that fair officials expect to mail out the premium checks within the next two weeks.

Mrs. Louise Gilbert announces that her two latest radio programs are the Little Buster Pop Corn, broadcast over WLS Saturday afternoons at 5:15 and the Minneapolis Honeywell broadcast over WENR Sunday afternoons at 3:30.

Antioch Players Score Victory by Defeating Gurnee

With typical football weather prevailing, Antioch players again scored a victory when they defeated the Gurnee squad, 7-6, at Gurnee Friday afternoon.

Following a series of line plunges and forward passes the local boys made a touchdown at the beginning of the second quarter and Gurnee made theirs by intercepting one of Antioch's passes and running almost the entire length of the field at the end of the second quarter. The local players made their points after the touchdown, while Gurnee failed, Billy Keulman kicking the goal for the extra point.

Both teams had several chances to score, but lacked the final punch.

Winning this game leaves Antioch running for the championship with three conference games yet to be played, Leyden coming here on October 23 and the local team going to Palatine and Libertyville for the other two games.

The practice game is being played this week with the Racine Military academy.

Epworth League Will Give Melody Concert

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will sponsor an "Old Melody Concert" production at the Antioch high school auditorium on October 23 and 24. Over seventy-five local characters will participate in the various numbers.

The program will feature old time melodies, old time fiddlers, old-fashioned costumes, Holland Dutch kiddies, peris girls, harmony quartet, comedy sketches and musical novelties. A complete list of local characters taking part will be announced in the News next week.

THE SPECTATOR

Many Antioch people have apparently elected to have sniffles, colds, and even mild gripe cases at this time rather than wait for the epidemic which is said to be headed this way from the East. Provided it gives one the looked-for immunity later the idea is not a bad one, since right now there is more sympathy for the afflicted. Why doesn't somebody in this town with a philanthropic spirit establish a circulating handkerchief library? No family supply is big enough for the needs of one full-grown coryza and it would be mighty convenient to draw a stack in an emergency from a municipal supply station.

A little black dog was strolling along Main street this morning and spectator could almost hear abdominal mutterings as it proudly carried between its teeth a big rabbit. Sweet dream!

Antioch is getting all dolled up for Halloween. Almost every window display has some evidences of the approaching night of nights.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank my friends, neighbors, and relatives for their kind sympathy, flowers, and help during my recent bereavement; the loss of my husband—Mrs. Dora Dibble.

Mrs. C. B. McCloon has returned to Minneapolis, Minn., after having spent two months with her daughter, Mrs. Chris Laursen.

POPULAR MINISTER AGAIN ASSIGNED TO ANTIOCH PASTORATE

Philip T. Bohi Will Remain
Head of M. E. Church

That the Rev. Philip Bohi should again be assigned to the local Methodist Episcopal church pastorate by the Rock River conference, sentiment lurking here for several months, was crystallized Monday when it was announced from the Chicago Temple that he is to be returned.

Coming to Antioch from Richmond two years ago, the Reverend Mr. Bohi has had an unusually successful pastorate here, the church membership, among other things, having increased considerably. He has made many friends, not only among the members of his church, but also in outside circles, and has taken an active interest in community matters.

Following the ministerial assignment the conference passed a resolution asking that efforts be made to declare the part-mutual betting law unconstitutional.

St. Jude Novena to Start Tuesday, Oct. 20

A Solemn Novena in honor of St. Jude Thaddeus, patron of difficult cases, will be conducted at the shrine of the saint in St. Plus church at Nineteenth street and South Ashland avenue, Chicago, beginning Tuesday, October 20, and concluding October 28, the feast of St. Jude. There will be four services daily at 10 a. m., 3, 6, 30 and 8 p. m.

The Revs. M. J. Eckert, O. P., of New York city, and R. F. Larpentour, O. P., of Minneapolis, Minn., will alternate in conducting the daily services, while the closing exercises on October 28 will be in charge of the Rev. Wm. A. Merchant, O. P. Public veneration of the relic of St. Jude will follow each service.

Frank Huber Again Heads Firemen

Horan and Garland Are Re-elected; Plan Annual Armistice Dance

Frank Huber, many years president of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department association, Tuesday night was re-elected to that office. Other re-elected were John L. Horan, secretary, and George Garland, who was named treasurer for the eleventh consecutive year.

Clarence Shultz and Herman Rosling, active members of the department, were named inspectors. Reappointment of Fire Chief James Stearns was approved by the village board of trustees last April.

Plans for the thirteenth annual firemen's dance to be held on Armistice night, November 11, were discussed at the meeting Tuesday night.

Thieves Take $10 From Tire Shop

Sneak thieves broke into the Dickson Tire Repair shop here last Friday night and took about $10 in change. Entrance was gained through a window, which had been unlocked some time during the day, according to Mr. Dickson. Two tires which the robbers took from the shop were later found in the rear of the building.

Duncan Leaves Allendale.

William Duncan, for ten years director of vocational agriculture at the Allendale boys school at Lake Villa, has resigned his post there to accept a position as livestock expert at Marshall Farm, near Libertyville. Marshall Farm, near Libertyville, Marshall herds of sheep in the United States, according to animal husbandry experts.

Duncan leaves this week for Denver and other western points on business pertaining to the livestock industry. He expects to acquire valuable additions to the Marshall herd during his travels, which will extend over a period of several weeks.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us during our recent bereavement—Mr. and Mrs. A. Steininger and family.

Mrs. C. B. McCloon has returned to Minneapolis, Minn., after having spent two months with her daughter, Mrs. Chris Laursen.

FANS GET ANNUAL FALL TONIC

The world this side of the Atlantic, north of the Mexican border, and on up to the Arctic circle, is just resuming work again following a short vacation occasioned by the series.

Fire, murder, and sudden death had to wait. Stock markets and grain reports were sidetracked for the information that a Mr. Grove or some other person, throwing a ball at terrific speed, had walked a batting person. That was all there was to it. The news of the day centered around the series—anything that got in the way was bowled over. "What's the score?" was the great national question of the day.

KEEP YOUR DOG AT HOME

If you would like to have people like your dog, keep him at home. Every dog that is allowed to roam the neighborhood at will is a public nuisance, and no one likes a nuisance nor has very much respect for the one who maintains it.

Some dog owners are unable properly to feed them; others are too indolent to do so, and consequently their dogs are constantly in search of food. Many of them may be found at other people's back doors, tipping over garbage cans and doing other destruction. Shrubs, flowers, and evergreens are purchased to beautify homes, only to be destroyed by roaming dogs.

Why should any local resident have to endure these annoyances, just so that some neighbor can allow his dog to roam the lawns? Why should so many be annoyed for the pleasure of a few?

ARE WE EVER SATISFIED?

Did you ever hear a man in the city tell of what he would do in the event of his making a pile of money, enough to live on and to spare? Invariably he will say: "I will buy me a nice farm and spend the rest of my days in restful peace." On the other hand, the man on the farm will say: "When my ship comes in and I have enough on which to live and to spare, I will move to the city and spend the rest of my days in peace."

It is the same as in the story told of the farmer that had done about all the farming that he cared for and had gone into the city to consult a real estate man as to the best way to dispose of his farm and get hold of a desirable city property in which to spend the balance of his days. The real estate man told him of several very desirable city properties and one of them seemed to meet with his approval. It was then that he decided to advertise the big farm for sale and the real estate man proceeded to write out a description of the land, the house, the outbuildings, a very nicely situated spring house, and giving, as was the facts of the case, a description of a very beautiful, country place where, to a man acquainted with the needs of a farmer, an excellent opportunity was presented to make a good living and have an unusually nice, attractive, and convenient home in which to live. When finally the real estate man read the description over to the farmer to see if it met with his approval, he was much surprised when the farmer asked him what farm he was describing. The real estate man said: "It's your farm—the one you are just leaving." The farmer scratched his head awhile, and said, "I don't believe I will sell the old home." The description, bringing out as it did, the numerous good points so needed in a desirable farm, and which this one did possess, looked so good to the old man that he decided that he did not want to sell out after all. This was just the kind of place he had wanted all his life, and, as it was already his, he would return to it at once and there end his days. He had not fully appreciated his possession before and the trade for city property was never concluded. Really it is true—"We never miss the water 'till the well runs dry."

TAXING THE BILLBOARDS

The billboards along the highways of America have become a public nuisance. They are at their best an impertinent attempt to force advertising upon people during their hours of recreation. At their worst they are blots upon the landscape. One of the greatest blessings which the motor car has brought to the people who live in towns is that it provides a swift and easy way to get out into the country, to see beautiful things which nature has to show us. But when, instead of beauty, the motorist sees on every hand huge structures advertising somebody's soap or cigarettes, frequently blocking the best and most beautiful views, half of the benefit of country motoring is lost.

It is not enough to denounce advertisers who use billboards. They would not continue to use them, doubtless, unless they found that it paid them to do so, though it is a very serious question whether the same amount of money spent in newspaper advertising would not bring larger results. The advertisers pay for the use of billboards, but they do not pay enough or to the right people.

It is not enough to pay the owner of the land on which a billboard is erected, a more or less nominal rent for the space occupied. There are others besides the landowner concerned. The privilege of arresting the attention of everybody who goes along the road is in the nature of a public franchise, and should be recognized and taxed as such.

In France, that is exactly the way the billboard evil is kept down to a reasonable limit. The French government has adopted a sliding scale of taxes. It begins with $24 a year per square meter for the smaller boards up to six square meters. That figures out about $2.25 a square foot, or around $400 a year for a billboard of the standard 24-sheet size. But the larger sized boards in France pay at a higher rate, up to $100 a square meter, or about $10 a square foot, for the largest. Some of the billboards on the main roads leading out of Paris will have to pay $16,000 a year each for the privilege.

That is a fair and equitable tax. It will keep down the number of billboards and those which are permitted will contribute toward the maintenance of the highways along which they stand. New Jersey has begun in a modest way to imitate the French and levy a small tax on billboards. It is something which every state, county, township, and municipality might well look into as a means of providing additional public revenue and at the same time doing something toward abating a growing nuisance.

WILMOT BOYS WILL GO TO MADISON TO ENTER CONTEST

Opening Football Game Is Played with Fox Lake on October 3

Six members of the vocational agriculture department will take part in the annual judging contest at Madison Friday, October 16. The boys will be accompanied by Principal M. M. Schurr. The livestock judging team consists of Louis Wino, Joe Groff, and Clarence Runyard. The dairy products team is composed of Dick DeBell, Preston Stoen and Vernon Runyard. Saturday the boys will attend the Wisconsin-Purdue football game.

The opening home football game was played last Friday against Fox Lake. Wednesday they played the postponed game with Rochester.

The freshman initiation party held Friday night was a complete success. The sophomores had a very interesting and amusing program arranged for the newcomers. Refreshments were served and a short time spent in dancing. The committee in charge of the party was composed of Lucille Weaver, chairman, Volma Schmalfeldt, Floyd Zarnstorf, Glenn Pacey, Louis Wino, Genevieve Van Lier, Robert Van Lier, Anna Mae Anderson.

The six weeks' examinations are being given this week.

Thirteen members of the Wilmot chapter, Order of Eastern Star, attended a session of the grand chapter at Milwaukee on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Mrs. Harry McDougall and Mrs. John Sutcliffe went from Wilmot.

Twenty-five members of the chapter represented the Wilmot Eastern Star at a meeting of the Genoa City chapter Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Beck were in Kenosha, Friday.

"More genuine satisfaction than any car I ever owned"

THE FORD is good-looking. It is safe. Comfortable. Speedy. Reliable. Long-lived. Economical. Everything a good car should be.

There is, too, an added something about it that brings enthusiastic comments from every one who has ever driven a Ford . . . the joy it puts in motoring.

"I have been a car owner continuously for nearly 20 years," writes a motorist connected with a leading university. "During this period I have bought eleven new automobiles. Eight of the eleven were in the middle-price field, one cost three thousand dollars, and the last is a Ford I purchased thirteen months ago.

"In the light of this experience I can say in all sincerity that I have derived more genuine satisfaction from the Ford than any car I ever owned. In saying this, I am thinking in terms of comfort, safety, driving pleasure, ease of control and economy. My next car will also be a Ford because it will give me what I want at a price I can afford to pay."

When you get behind the wheel of the Ford and drive it yourself you will know it is a truly remarkable car at a low price. You will like it when you first buy it. You will become more and more enthusiastic the longer you drive it.

After thousands of miles of driving you will say "It's a great car." Its economy will save you many dollars.

Think It Over

Taxpayers' Questions

How many members of school boards have relatives in the teaching staff or otherwise tapping the taxpayers' till?

Why are taxpayers beginning to say that education comes rather high?

Due to high costs, low wages and short hours, how many taxpayers will be able to send their children to school all the year and furnish the 25 and 50 cents required each week to purchase articles that some high school teachers fancy are absolutely necessary?

What taxpayer wants to be represented in a council by a worthless check writer and which alderman can sit in meeting with a rubber check artist?

If an editor insists on trying bank cases in his paper, why cannot taxpayer depositors in busted banks assert their feelings by reading friendly papers?

What honest taxpayer attended a Sunday meeting of an indicted auditor, a local press editor and a penny politician?

Do not all taxpayers who pay the cost of grand juries, appreciate the rebuke by the judge to the press and the part of the jury that indulges in leaks from the jury room?

Will it not be a treat for the sore eyes of honest property owners who cash in for water to behold working in the white-wing squads on the highways and by-ways, all the prominent business men, factory heads, civic leaders and prominent citizens who highly feature the delinquent water bill deadbeat list at the city hall?

Will not the streets be cleaner than a whistle if half of the deadbeats water list start cleaning up the highways?

What taxpayer has not whetted his knife to go after the scalp of the penny politicians who promise much and perform nothing in connection with $1.35 gas?

If a city's bankroll is growing very small, why pay $500 per month to a city engineer and a street boss when few improvements are being made?

If a mayor and his ten disciples have kept their promise to get out of a barn, what about cleaning out the rest of the gang that perpetrated the barn on the taxpayers so long?

Was it not the engineer who made a $10,000 mistake in Jackson street paving, who furnished the brains and punch to land the commission in the barn and ultimately into oblivion?

With two days' work per week and wage cuts ranging from 10 to 40 per cent, will some prominent civic leader or busted banker tell honest taxpayers how to make both ends meet when milk is 13 cents, cartons 7 cents, electric current 9 cents, and gas $1.35; to say nothing much about the racket of increasing fuel prices 25 cents per month during the fuel consuming seasons?

Why is a county superintendent of highways paid $2,500 per year extra and when will the taxpayers read about such $2,500 being recovered in to the treasury?

Why is the great white way on S. Genesee street allowed to burn the juice when a city cannot meet its essential electric current bills?

How much money is turned into the taxpayers' till by the police magistrate?

Are the professional bondsmen being tipped off while the taxpayers pay the bill for keeping the peace?

Do not all taxpayers rejoice because the militant taxpayers tried to stop the soap and soft tissue paper racket in public offices?

When will Lake county have a real audit by a competent firm?

Who has the barn keys now?

Is it not nice for taxpayers to pay $1,302 plumbing bills at the jail in order that the United States will increase its rate for federal prisoners from 65 to 75 cents per day?

Who gets the 10 cents increase per day for the federal prisoners' grub, the taxpayers' till or somebody else? Why?

TAXES ON GASOLINE YIELD 264 MILLIONS

Increase in Consumption of Fuel Is Shown for Six Months of Year

Gasoline taxes provided in the first six months of 1931, a net revenue of $246,375,000 which is to be used principally for road purposes, according to information collected from state authorities by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States department of agriculture. Nearly 7,115,000,000 gallons were taxed, an increase of 4 1/2 per cent over the same period last year.

Consumption of gasoline increased in thirty-six states and decreased in twelve states. On the basis of the figures for the half year, it is estimated that the gasoline tax will yield a revenue exceeding $500,000,000 for the full year.

The tax is now imposed in every state. Only eight states increased the rate of tax within the 6-month period. Two others made increases effective in July and August.

The total revenue derived was allocated as follows: Construction and maintenance of state highways, $153,332,000 or 64 per cent; for local roads, $48,417,000 or 20 per cent; state and county bond payments, $18,860,000 or 7 1/2 per cent; city streets, $10,157,000 or 4 per cent and the remainder of $10,607,000 or 4 1/2 per cent for collection costs and miscellaneous items. Issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Farmers Feel Weight of Excessive Tax Load

In its search for aid for the farmers' tax problems, the Lake County Taxpayers' News finds much of merit in the recent views of an assistant chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, Eric Englund, of Washington, who is credited with the following remarks which every farmer and taxpayer generally should carefully consider and act upon in his own way.

Expert Englund says: "The index of taxes on farm land and buildings, computed on a per acre basis, has risen from a base figure of 100 in 1913 to 249 in 1930 for the United States as a whole."

"Two Methods Offered. "Farmers naturally feel the weight of heavy taxation most in times of depression, when prices are low. When it is considered that prices of farm land are declining at the same time, and that heavy taxes are a factor making for such a decline, the effect of high taxes is more apparent."

"There are two general methods by which the farmer may be relieved of some of this burden. Both, of course, involve tax reduction. The first and probably most important is economy in state and local expenditures; the second is revision of the tax system to place some of the burden elsewhere."

"Efforts on the part of the local and state agencies to get more per dollar for the money they expend, and closer supervision of community expenditure should be encouraged. Careful budgeting, combined with provision for easy public scrutiny of the manner of handling funds, are elements which would do much to obtain economies and savings."

"Recent research on local governmental systems has shown that economies might be effected by combining some of the local political units. While there are obstacles in the way, for instance, of combining two counties, or of combining of communities such as the jealousy of county seats, over their positions as county seats, it should be possible to cut down expenditures by combining counties to eliminate one set of governing officials and their costs."

"The possibility of altering the public taste so that essentials may be preserved, while costly nonessentials are eliminated, also presents an opportunity for economy. Schools and other buildings on which large sums are spent for appearances might be built for less money with no sacrifice of efficiency or results."

"Distributing Burden. "The present general system of real estate taxation, which bears most heavily on the farmer because his business is built on a real estate basis, might be revised so that a smaller portion of the tax burden is borne by the farmer."

"Other changes in the tax system might also be made. The system of assessment, in particular, contains many inequalities which could well be remedied. There appears to be a tendency to undervalue especially the larger holdings of individuals."

"A general improvement that might prove helpful is a wider distribution of the cost of public facilities which are of widespread benefit. The cost of public improvements such as roads and schools might well be distributed more widely, for instance, because such structures are of benefit to the state and to the country as a whole."

Wilderness Is to Be a National Park

The section of Virginia, about fifteen miles long and ten wide, where was fought the Battle of the Wilderness has been designated by the government as a national park and work is under way. The view above is of the spot where Gen. Stonewall Jackson was accidentally shot by his own troops. Within the area named were fought the battles of Fredericksburg, Spottsylvania and Chancellorsville.

COUNTRY HAS TOO MUCH OFFICIALDOM, FRANK LOWDEN SAYS

Vast Resources Fail to Lift Financial Distress

The militant organized taxpayers in Lake county are rejoicing because no less a person than former Governor Frank Lowden has joined in the battle initiated largely in Lake county for cheaper and less local and county government.

For a long time the Lake County Taxpayers' News has urged economy in the cost of local government and has insisted upon fewer, better, and moderately paid persons in public positions.

Former Governor Lowden points out that county and township governments spend the larger part of the taxes, but have not been modernized, and that counties cut to the measure of horse and buggy days have outlived their usefulness.

Those who favor horse-sense in local administration will take heart and courage when they digest what the former governor has to say, as follows:

"In the average county of Illinois," Mr. Lowden said, "the salaries of county officials absorb a very large percentage of the total revenues of the county, running as high as 50 per cent. That these officials could serve a much larger territory in most instances no one doubts."

"I realize the practical difficulty in effecting the consolidation of counties. We hear of unemployment everywhere except among public officials. Their number goes on increasing in good and evil times alike."

"We have too many governments and an extreme illustration is Cook county. In fact, Cook county comprises only a part of the metropolitan district of which Chicago is the heart. Yet Cook county alone contains 392 independent local governments. All its vast resources, should be in financial distress."

"The town or township is a still smaller unit of government which has largely survived its needs. No one but the town assessor knows what its boundaries are."

"In any ideal reconstruction of county government, the boundaries would be so changed as to make of the county a natural economic and social unit, regard being paid to the principal cities and towns and the territory naturally tributary to such. The aim would be to create a county in which community activities and community consciousness were possible."

"It is sometimes urged that to consolidate counties is a move away from self-government. Quite the reverse is true. If we would check the encroachment of the state upon the functions of the county we must make county government so efficient that there will be no reason for such a change."

COUNCIL WRESTLES WITH UNPAID BILLS GOV'T GIVES DATA ON TEACHERS' PAY

Ornamental lights increased illumination in Waukegan 17 per cent and $500 was added to the light bill. However, when the lights for the dead were installed in South Genesee street the representation was that there would be no increase. Now the mayor wants to cut the current bill and so do all consumers in their homes, but how? Is it a question that awaits the same answer as the gas rate puzzle which the late commission did not solve, although it started the popular problem for the aldermanic council to wrestle with after election.

HEADS THE LEGION

Henry L. Stevens, Jr., lawyer, orator and a second lieutenant in the World war, who was elected national commander of the American Legion at the convention in Detroit. Stevens, just thirty-five, is the youngest veteran ever to become head of the Legion. His home is in Warsaw, N. C.

Patriot of Swedish Blood. The ancestors of John Morton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, were of Swedish extraction and were among the first Swedish emigrants to locate on the banks of the Delaware river. His father, for whom he was named, died a few months previous to his birth. His mother later married an Englishman.

WHERE DID $100,000 GO?

Overdrafts on special assessments in Waukegan will amount to $100,000. It is indicated by a preliminary draft of the current audit.

"Where the money went before that I don't know," is credited to Attorney William Behanna. If the corporation counsel does not know, who does and who will find out might soon for the taxpayers, who miss a tiny sum during the current flush period of public administration?

Inventions Brought Wealth

Mr. Singer, who had to borrow money to patent his invention of the sewing machine, left $10,000,000; Mr. Gillette, who devised the famous safety razor which still bears his name, made more than $2,000,000; while Joseph Olden, who invented barbed wire, benefited from his sharp-wittedness to the extent of a quarter of a million—and incidentally influenced the fighting methods of the world's greatest war.

SUGGESTS TAXPAYERS BUY LAND FOR DRIVE

Accretions Automatically Public Property, Says Attorney General

A local editor says, "No valid reason can be presented why Waukegan should not acquire title to its lake front, both as the site for a driveway and in order that a lake front park can be created from 'made' land." The reason may not be valid but it is victorious in the form of several thousand militant organized taxpayers and several more thousands of their followers who have put thumbs down at the ballot box on the lake front land deal in Waukegan.

About twice a year some editor seems fit to lecture the voters on their defeat of the lake shore drive project, which helped to carry into political oblivion many politicians. However, it appears that now and then some simple politician fancies he can sugarcoat the lake shore land deal so that the taxpayers are expected to fall for the notion that they should pay good taxes for the accretions outside the bulkheads regardless of the fact that such accretions automatically accrue to the public.

The militant taxpayers refer all doubters to the opinion of the attorney general.

school teacher is $1,876. The survey further revealed for continental United States that in 451 city school systems where the population ranges from 5,000 to 10,000, the median salary for the elementary teacher is $1,303 and for the high school teacher is $1,692.

The lowest salaries are paid in those cities whose population ranges from 2,500 to 5,000. There are 440 such systems included in the survey. The median salary for elementary teachers here is $1,162 and for high school teachers, $1,547.

Distinction in Grades

A significant fact in addition to the progressive increase in salaries according to the size of the cities is that school systems make a distinction between salaries for high school teachers and those for elementary teachers. There is a movement in some cities to put all teachers at the start on a single salary basis and thus do away with the discrimination against a teacher because she happens to be teaching in the grades rather than in high school.

The importance of each teacher's particular work in the educational training of the child cannot, according to supporters of the movement, be regarded more or less important than that of another teacher, higher or lower in her level of training the child.

The city systems in New York state pay the highest salaries in the United States. The median salary for the elementary teacher in cities of more than 100,000 population here is $2,552 and that for high school teachers is $3,435. Illinois cities of the same size pay their elementary teacher a median salary of $2,516, and for high school teachers they exceed New York cities of this size, by paying them a median salary of $3,441.

Wisconsin Levels

Cities of 100,000 and above in Wisconsin pay their teachers of elementary schools the third highest median salary. It stands at $2,330. The median salary for high school teachers in Wisconsin is $2,619.

In these three ranking states, the size of the city determines the salary level. Just as exists for the nation as a whole, the smaller the city the less income the teacher receives. Cities in New York state, with a population from 2,500 to 5,000, for example, pay elementary teachers a median salary of $1,637, and high school teachers, $1,861.

The term "median" applies to a group the best paid 50 per cent of a group receive salaries equal to or exceeding the "median" salary and the poorest paid 50 per cent of a group receive salaries equal to or less than the "median."

ST. PETER'S CHURCH, CHICAGO, IS SCENE OF COLORFUL WEDDING

Lorraine Anderson Becomes Bride of William
Schroeder

St. Peter's Episcopal church, Chicago, was the scene of a brilliant social event last Thursday evening when Miss Lella Lorraine Anderson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Anderson, of Antioch and Chicago, became the bride of William Edward Schroeder II, son of Mrs. W. E. Schroeder, of Channel lake and Riverside, side, and of the late Dr. W. E. Schroeder. The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. E. Carr and Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the People's church, in the presence of 400 friends and relatives. The bride was given away by her father.

The church was beautifully arranged with palms and autumn flowers and lighted with cathedral candles. During the ceremony, Bertha James Gilbert sang "Beloved, It Is Mine" and "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee." She was accompanied by Walter Flansdorf, organist at the People's church, who also rendered a recital.

Wearing an ivory satin gown with court train and a tulle veil with cap of venetian rosepoint lace, the bride was exquisite. Her bouquet was composed of lilies, gardenias, and lilacs of the valley.

She was attended by her sorority sisters, Miss Charlotte Cushman, maid of honor, and the Misses Gertrude Elberhart, Virginia Lowry, and Elizabeth Rantiff, bridesmaids, who wore champagne tulle with brown belts, chapeaux and brown mottos hats, and carried yellow roses tied with brown satin streamers. The bride's mother was attired in gold lace and the groom's mother in black lace with corsages of orchids.

The groom was attended by Arthur Corydon as best man and the ushers were Donald Bissell, Herbert Haisling, and Kendall Moritz.

The rehearsal was held the night before the wedding and was followed by the bridal dinner at the Medinah Athletic club, which was also the scene of the reception.

Immediately following the reception the bride and groom left for French Lick Springs, Ind., where they are spending their honeymoon.

The bride is a charming young woman, a graduate of Northwestern university, where she was a member of Mortar Board and of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. The groom is a graduate of the University of Illinois, school of electrical engineering, and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity.

They will make their home in Rockford, where the groom has a position with the Vacuum Oil company.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS HOLD REGULAR MEET TUESDAY

Members of the local camp of the Royal Neighbors held a regular meeting at the Woodman hall Tuesday night. The deputy, Mrs. Ida Campschulke, Waukegan, and the county recorder, Mrs. C. E. McCall, Gurnee, were present. A school of instruction will be held at Gurnee Friday afternoon, after which initiation of members will take place. Since Antioch has two candidates who will be initiated at that time, all local camp members are asked to be present.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET IN WAUKEGAN

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death
Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 11.

The Golden Text was, "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; thus, thy saving health among all nations" (Psalm 67:1, 2).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God to the face of Jesus Christ" (II. Cor. 4:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Unless the harmony and immortality of man are becoming more apparent, we are not gaining the true idea of God; and the body will reflect what governs it, whether it be Truth or error, understanding or belief, Spirit or matter. Therefore 'acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace.' Be watchful, sober, and vigilant" (p. 324).

MAPS NEW NORTH SHORE DISTRICT

13th Congressional District Includes Lake and Part of Cook County

Maps of the new thirteenth congressional district were distributed last week by Ralph E. Church and his friends who are favoring the Evanston man's candidacy for the Republican nomination for congress.

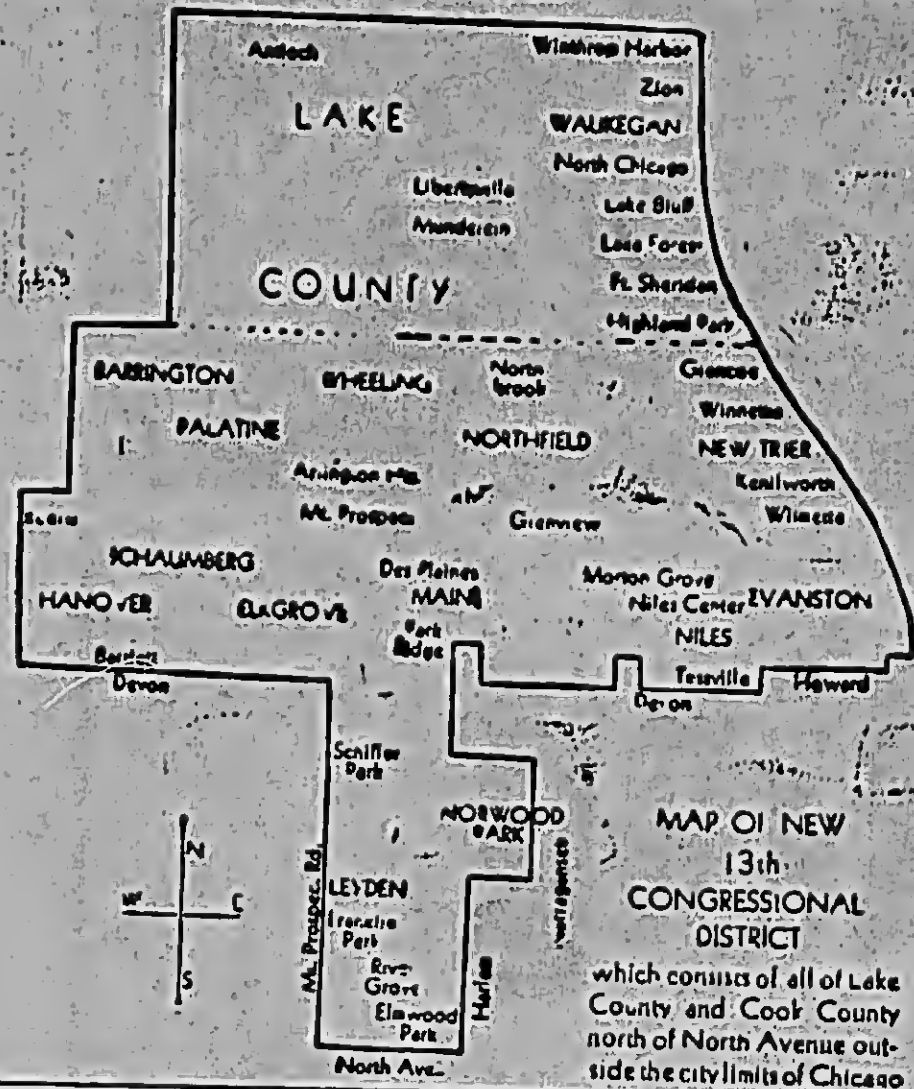

Church was first to announce his candidacy for the post created by the last general assembly through the act re-districting the state. Church's announcement appeared on June 19 and friends acting in his behalf began an active campaign in July. The candidate has been a state representative from the sixth senatorial district for the past sixteen years.

Church's long and creditable record

Ralph E. Church

In the state general assembly, his supporters point out, qualifies the candidate for promotion to the federal congress.

We have occasion here in the First National Bank to observe certain savings accounts grow and accumulate. We know the people back of those accounts.

And we confess to a real thrill as we witness the financial successes of these customers.

SERVING HOMES, FARMS and INDUSTRIES in 6,000 SQUARE MILES ADJACENT to CHICAGO

Gas Heating Rates Reduced 30%

Effective October 15

This rate reduction begins the era of universal gas home heating.

A new gas—an ideal home-heating fuel—is now available throughout the territory served with gas by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

The advantages of gas for home heating have long been recognized. No other fuel can compare for cleanliness (no soot), convenience (no ashes), comfort (even temperatures automatically maintained), and complete modern efficiency from every standpoint. No fuel storage—you pay for your heat after you use it.

Gas heat can be applied in your present heating system whether warm air, hot water or steam.

We will be glad to have one of our house heating engineers call at your home (without obligation to you) and estimate how little it will cost to heat your home with gas at the new low rates.

Condiments Form A Necessary Part of Our Daily Diet

Certain kinds of food have little or no nutritive value, such as is possessed by meat, milk eggs and vegetables; and yet they are important and even necessary to existence. Chief among them are the condiments—sugar, pepper, nutmeg, vinegar, spices, and the like. They are flavorings which suggest pleasure in eating and therefore excite the secretion of the digestive juices.

Partaking of the most nourishing food without such relishes would become a dreary affair.

The human body craves salt and cannot get along without it for any length of time. While the exact value of salt in the human anatomy is not clearly known, a certain amount of it must always be provided. The wild tribes of Africa, when away from salt deposits, will go almost any distance to procure it. In the old Roman civilization the salt cellar had a most significant place on the table; and when the Roman dined with his neighbor and ate his salt, the ceremony was symbolic of eternal friendship. And it is well known that animals go great distances to salt licks for their supplies of this very necessary condiment; their bodies crave it and they must have it.

If food is to be relished, the condiments are by no means to be neglected. They make food more palatable. Every housewife who wants to keep her husband from going out of night, and who would hold his affection forever and a day, will do well to look carefully to the seasoning of the meals she prepares.

Table Decorations for Child's Party Should Be Simple

"How shall I devise something different in the way of table decorations?" is the question which often perplexes the mother who is planning on giving her child a party. Young children will enjoy a simple party if it is amusing and interesting, far more than they would some elaborate affair.

The luncheon plays a very important part at any social function, even among very little folks, and novel table decorations will add a great deal to the merriment of the party. Fruits, vegetables, and nuts made into funny-faced folks will make inexpensive decorations and will delight the children. For the centerpiece, have a basket filled with apples on each of which a face has been made by cutting out the peeling to form eyes, nose and mouth. The basket should contain enough for every guest, for you may be sure that each child will want to take one, as they are passed around at the end of the luncheon.

At the end of the table where they can best be placed, use head lettuce from which the heart has been cut, and push clothespins up through the center just far enough to form a head and waist. Mark faces on the clothespins and stand them upright, so that the lettuce forms the skirts. Two or three of these are sufficient on the ordinary sized table.

Near each plate, or scattered between the dishes, place carrot families. These can be made by using fair-sized carrots for Father and Mother

Carrot and the small-sized carrots for the little Carrots. Cut or mark faces on one side of each, then stick toothpicks in slanting and near the smaller end. This will make them stand upright.

Serve cup cakes with frosting on which faces have been formed by dropping chocolate to make eyes, nose, and mouth. The icecream may be served in small pumpkin shells. On each side of the pumpkin shell, place the condiments—sugar, pepper, nutmeg, vinegar, spices, and the like. They are flavorings which suggest pleasure in eating and therefore excite the secretion of the digestive juices.

For place cards, use English walnut shells. Fill the cavity of one-half of the shell with tiny candles, then replace the other half and glue the edges together. Tie a narrow ribbon around each one, making a loop bow at the top. Into one of the loops slip a tiny card with the name of the little guest written upon it.

SHAKESPEARE

THE STORM

A long, long time ago there lived on an island in a distant sea an old fairy by the name of Sycorax. Living with her were many, many little fairies, little orphans, fairies. Now Sycorax was very kind to those who were good and very mean to those who were naughty.

One day she got so angry at three of the little fairies who had refused to obey her that she shut them up in a big tree and told them she would never, never let them out. And she never did, because after they had been there for a short time Sycorax grew sick and died.

When the little fairies heard this they became very worried, because no one else knew they were in the big tree except Sycorax. They called for help, but no one came to their rescue. Finally one day a kind man by the name of Prospero, came along. Prospero was a magician, so there was nothing he could not do. He had not been on the island long before he heard the cries of these little spirits who were locked within the big tree. He took pity on them and, by virtue of his art, released them from this terrible prison. They were so grateful to Prospero for this act of kindness that they promised to be obedient to him forever after.

Have you ever heard of Ariel, boys and girls? Well, Ariel was the name of the most mischievous of the fairies who were shut up in the tree. And Caliban, have you ever heard of him? Well, he was an ugly monster who also lived on this island, and when Prospero came he employed him in his service to carry wood for him. Now, Ariel took great delight in teasing Caliban, and because Ariel was a spirit he always had to tell Caliban what to do. And Ariel wasn't like you and me, little folks. He had no arms and legs and head. He was just like a cloud and no one could see him except Prospero. And he could do anything Prospero wanted him to do. He could even command the winds and waves of the sea.

So one day Prospero ordered Ariel to raise a violent storm and he did and next time we'll see what happened.

There Is No Royal Road to Genuine And Correct Style

Winter is almost here and with it comes the problem of selecting the season's wardrobe. Mrs. Jones is no doubt already worrying about whether or not her new dress is going to be as good-looking as Mrs. Smith's.

Maybe your troubles will be somewhat alleviated if you will but stop to think that there is no royal road to genuine style or correct dress. Most women labor under the false idea that if they had enough money they could or would dress beautifully. We so often hear "And why shouldn't she look nice?" Look at all the money she spends on clothes! But if you spend that money indiscriminately without planning your costumes or without thinking about your coloring, your lines, your defects, as well as your good features, it would not make a particle of difference whether you spent $100 a year on clothes or $10,000. The effect would be the same and that is individually.

One of the easiest bad habits to fall into is to follow every fad idea that appears on the fashion stage all seasons of the year—novelty purses, jackets, shoes, colors—every conceivable late idea which is supposed to personify the ultra-ultra of what is smart. The fads live the day of a skyrocket, it seems to a grand blaze of glory, then fades to nothingness. And when a fad has reached its peak, it, too, disappears from the list of accepted fashions of the day.

What happens? We are constantly wearing little things which are obviously out-of-date. We cannot afford to discard them at the very moment when Dame Fashion turns her smile of favor upon a new fashion. The result is that the simplicity which speaks not only the correct style but good taste, is defeated. We are decked out in some tawdry baubles, baubles which we really can't afford to buy. Such is the paradoxical nature of women and their sometimes amusing ideas of economy.

If you want your friends to call you well-dressed, select clothes which are simple and inconspicuous. Keep your defects in mind, as well as your strong points. If you have a beautiful coloring, that will take care of itself—so don't play up to that if your waistline happens to be a bit thick. Instead of choosing the reds and pinks, select dark colors which have a slenderizing effect. Always harmonize your individuality with the styles you affect.

Clothes should be becoming and comfortable. To be truly smart in fashion-sheet terminology, follow the general trend of fashion, but know and understand your own particular style and make the prevailing fashion harmonize with that style.

HOT WATER

..... on the farm
wherever you need it

Electricity will heat all the hot water you need on the farm. Day and night, it keeps a tankful of hot water ready to use. Turn a faucet and there it is... for washing dishes, for cleaning, for bathing and laundry work in the farm home. An electric water heater also provides hot water for the dairy... for the poultry house. Egg production is increased when hens have warm drinking water during cold winter months.

An electric water heater recommended for farm use.

A small electric motor

will pump all the water needed in the home and barns for a few cents a day. In the dairy running water will cool milk to lower temperatures necessary for marketing. Fresh water for cows is also recommended by dairy authorities.

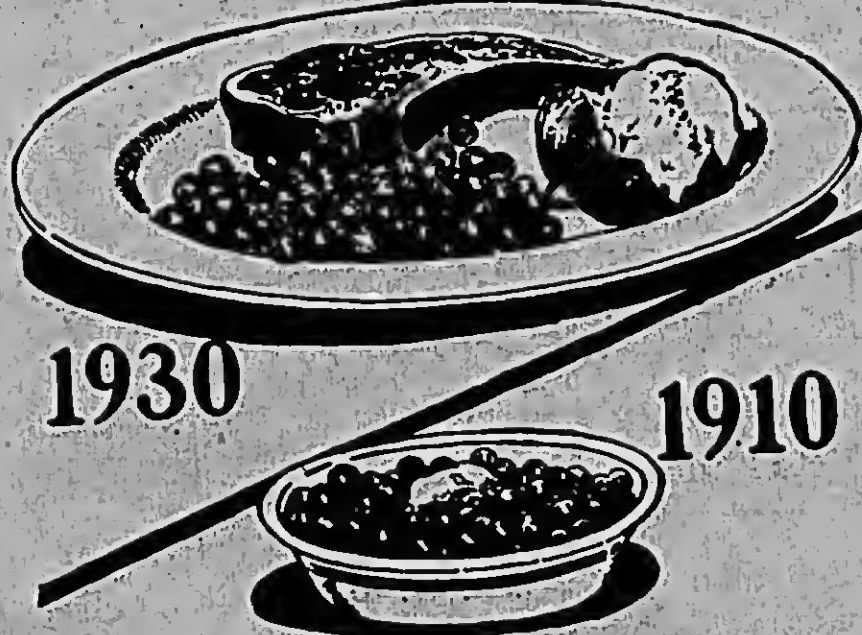

Complete information about electric water heaters and water pumps can be had, without obligation, by writing or phoning your nearest Public Service office or your neighborhood dealer.

Peas Change Their Habits

PEAS used to be served almost everywhere with cream sauce in a "side dish." Who doesn't remember the numerous little "bird baths" full of vegetables which used to clutter up the table? But, since we have all become more or less vegetarians, peas are now eaten straight, without any cream sauce, as part of the meal on the plate, and "side dishes" are pretty much things of the past. "Move over and give me peas," peas have said to the meat-chop, or whatever other meat you had on your plate, and these obliging viands have done so to the benefit of all concerned. Peas taste better served in this modern fashion, and the same thing holds true of canned whole grain corn.

Peas combine well not only with other meats but with vegetables. Here is a recipe for combining them with fresh tomatoes which will make everyone come back for more.
Peas with Fresh Tomatoes: Cut three or four tomatoes which are not too soft into pieces, and sauté gently in three tablespoons butter. Season well with salt and pepper, and add the drained contents of a No. 3 can of peas, or all the contents of a can of vacuum packed peas. Heat and serve. This recipe will serve eight people.
Be sure to use the liquor from the peas to use in a soup or a sauce if you use the kind that are put up in brine, as this liquor is rich in vitamins and minerals.

ANTIOCH MEN SEEK DEPRESSION CURE

this would be a big factor in bringing about prosperity."

Capital Should Not Be Concentrated.

Striking a much-talked-of note in the solution to this problem, S. H. Reeves believes that if the Almighty Dollar could be started on a merry ring-around-the-rosy, our economic life would be rectified and regularized with decent promptness. "It's getting to be nothing but a capitalistic battle," he said.

And Ray Webb—well, he just was not in the mood to get going on the depression business. "You know there are some pretty wise guys trying to figure that out," he said with a grin when asked to commit himself.

"Why, the people themselves can end this depression," opined Sam Tardell in his usual vigorous and straightforward manner. "The working people should come down and live like working people instead of like millionaires," he continued.

Eat More Bread.

Taken by surprise as he sat on the steps in front of the bakery shop this morning, Sam Warden, exclaimed in a big way, "My Gawd, woman, I don't know. Only thing I can say is to eat more bread so the baker'll have something to do."

Simple and yet practical and fundamental is Otto Klass's solution to the problem: "Giving the laboring man a living wage, giving the farmer a fair price will start the wheels of prosperity."

Charley's Version Not So Dumb.

Although seemingly unconscious of it, Charley Lutz struck a very important note in the situation when he said, "Nothing will help; this depression is just something that happens; everything will have to rectify itself." (No doubt you will recall from your study of economics that numerous panics have occurred in this country with a marked degree of regularity since 1821.)

G. O. Contributes in Big Way.

O. A. Whitmore just doesn't believe in doing things by halves; his contribution shows he is widely-read and that he has a thorough understanding of American business and industry. He says in part: "The speed of this nation's business recovery will depend entirely upon the resourcefulness, energy, and determination of American business men in solving their own problems and not upon anything that government might do in their behalf. Business recovery in this country will not come from any one cause or the efforts of any one agency. It will come to us individually as we overcome our business difficulties and collectively when enough of us have done that to put the business structure as a whole on sound foundations and start the wheels of trade revolving at a profitable pace. Let us assume that new and better times are in the making and check ourselves in all respects to see how ready we may be to profit by them."

Voices Opinion of Many.

Convinced that a repeal of the eighteenth amendment would be a big factor in the achieving of permanent immunity from the sort of depression which we are now passing through, O. E. Hachmeister says that such a measure, if it could be effected, "would enable millions of men to be put back to work; it would open channels for merchandise to a great number of manufacturers; and would give the farmer an outlet for his grain production." Voicing the opinion of thousands, Mr. Hachmeister, who, like the rest of us, has seen on all sides the destruction caused by moonshine, says "allowing breweries to open would give us a pure and wholesome drink instead of the rotten stuff that is now consumed by the public, causing many to go blind and others to commit crime." Of course, his objective precludes the return of abuses.

Reeves Agrees with Shultz.

It's hard to tell whether Mr. Reeves and C. E. Shultz got into a huddle about this or not, but at any rate, C. E. believes like Mr. Reeves that the first step toward the betterment of present economic conditions is a more equal distribution of wealth.

Andrew Dalgard depes out the depression thus: "If people would spend their money at home they would have profits which would be returned to them in labor and that would give them the chance to earn that money back which they had spent with their home merchants."

Practical-minded John Horan, who takes time to study the issues of the day, says if the money now being spent on the prohibition question, on politics, and on peace measures were kept in better circulation, the present depressed condition would be relieved.

Approaching the question from a local angle, W. F. Ziegler believes if a building program were inaugurated it would greatly help conditions here in Antioch.

And William Keulman says, "All we have to do is go to work and not think about it."

Dirt Farmer Speaks.

Today there is as much money in the country as there ever was, thinks Henry Griesen, Antioch farmer, who really gets his living from the soil. The trouble is the money is not changing hands but is tied up in the vaults of timid capitalists. Moneyed individuals are in no danger of starving and if they would ignore the depression there would be no such thing. The tie-up has destroyed the buying power of the masses, which in the end will seriously affect profits of capitalists who are needlessly delaying the return of prosperity. Inequitable taxation also is proving a handicap to the small property owner, while billions in hidden assets escape paying a share to the support of the government which protects all kinds of legitimate business.

"The cure for depression?—Time, just time," declares J. B. Dickson, Antioch business man, formerly a representative in the North Dakota legislature. "The country suffered the same kind of a slump in 1893. Prosperity came back with the return of buying power to the people. This occurred when surpluses in the hands of cap-

PROTECT HEN PHEASANTS

Officers of the Lake County Farm Bureau, Lake County Protective association, and Isaac Walton league met at the Farm Bureau office Tuesday evening and mapped out a campaign for the protection of hen pheasants.

It was urged that every farmer join the protective association. When he joins this association he gets ten "No Trespassing" signs given him, as well as deputy service. It is urged that every farmer post his land, and should he find any trespassers, report it to the sheriff's office or the deputies of the protective association in his township. The following are the protective association deputies: R. A. Heck, Wallace Jackson, Cliff Bonwell, Milo Kelsey, Fred Popp, J. Break, A. M. Peterson, Kenneth Hales, Wm. Hapke, Italists were depleted," Mr. Dickson said.

Now, don't you sense a tremendous relief to know that somebody is at least trying to shove Old Man Depression off the boards? By the way, let it be explained that the reason all of the local business men did not come in on this is not due to any partiality but to the fact that they did not care to voice their opinions or managed to keep out of reach of the interviewer.

In a nutshell, it seems we can't get relief from this depression until the leadership of American business and industry devises ways of shifting a larger share of the national income into the pockets of the consuming millions.

But how shall America effect this shifting of a larger share of the national income into the hands of the majority? That's the question.
